CHURCH DIGNITARIES ATTEND CONFERENCE

Eighteenth Quadrennial Conference of the M. E. Church, South, Opens Today.

(International News Service.)
Atlanta, May 2.—The eighteenth quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, representing more than 2,000,000 members, convened in Wesley Memorial church this morning at 9 o'clock for three weeks of sessions. Practically all the prominent church leaders, including members of the College of Bishops, are present. Bishop E. R. Hendrix, of Kansas City, as senior active bishop, presided at the first meeting and the impressive religious service was conducted by Bishops H. C. Morrison, W. R. Lambuth, Warren A. Candler and Jas. Atkins. Matters of interest coming before the conference include the laymen's movement for a revision of the church discipline to give them wider power in the direction of church affairs, the demand of Methodist women for laymen's rights and the question of union with the northern church. A welcome service will be held tonight with Gov. Hugh Dorsey, Mayor Candler and Rev. C. B. Wilmer, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church and president of the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' association among the speakers. Other meetings in connection with the conference will be presentation to Emory college of a bust of Bishop Candler, the chancellor and patriotic rally on May 11, when Secretary of the Navy Daniels will be the principal speaker. Dr. Chas. D. Bull, of Nashville, has been appointed editor of the conference daily newspaper, the Daily Advocate.

DOGS KILLED 100,000 SHEEP IN 1913

In States of the Mississippi. U. S. Chamber of Commerce Recommends Adjustment.

Washington, May 2.—The sheep industry in the United States must either adjust itself to the changed economic conditions of this day or continue the decline which has been its portion in years past. Such is the conclusion reached in a report issued today on the sheep and wool industry by the committee on statistics and standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The principal remedies suggested in the report to arrest the present steady decline in our production of sheep are, first, the use for sheep grazing of the agriculturally worthless and cheap cut-over timber lands of the north, northwest and south; second, the more general and systematic raising of sheep on farms, where sheep raising has been hitherto neglected largely because of frontier competition; and third continued use of the great ranges of the west to their full capacity.

The committee further says that sheep can be raised abundantly and profitably on farms as is evident from the experience in England. Sheep killing dogs have always been an obstacle to this; but the dog problem is doubtless soluble. Dogs killed about 100,000 sheep in states of the Mississippi valley in 1913.

WHISKY FLOWS FREELY IN KNOXVILLE WEDNESDAY

(Special to The News.)
Knoxville, May 2.—Hundreds of Knoxvilleans wished that they were a fish Wednesday afternoon. There's a reason.

Eight hundred gallons of whisky were poured into the sewer at the city hall, flowing into the Tennessee river. It represented an accumulation of about ten months or one year, according to Commissioner N. T. Little, under whose direction the whisky was poured out. The collection included all kinds of whisky from the very highest to bottled-in-hand to all degrees of moonshine variety and adulterated grades, found in all kinds of containers from half-pint bottles to ten-gallon kegs. Several trunks, suit cases, barrels and boxes filled with bottles were emptied.

JUST A JOKE HIS WIFE PLAYED ON HIM

Charges Contained in an Anonymous Letter Proves Wholly Groundless.

Charges that J. G. Vandergriff, an engineer on the Southern road, living at 1014 East Eleventh street, was attempting to evade military service were made in an anonymous letter recently received by Chairman M. N. Whitaker, of city draft board No. 2. An investigation followed and Mr. Vandergriff's name has been cleared of the stain that attaches to such a charge.

In the letter received by Gen. Whitaker it was stated that the engineer was released from service on the ground that his wife was about to become a mother. The writer went on to say that this was not the true state of affairs, and that Mrs. Vandergriff had feigned illness, and then secured a baby from Erlanger hospital. A week later, says the letter, the baby was returned to Erlanger.

Mrs. Vandergriff explained to those making the investigation that her husband is away from home a great deal of the time and that she wanted the baby for company. When she heard several weeks ago that a founding had been left on the doorstep at Erlanger she decided to ask for it. Having been a nurse herself, Mrs. Vandergriff had no trouble in securing the baby. But the wife came to the conclusion that her husband would object to the adoption of the youngster and decided to palm it off as her own. All this information was given unhesitatingly, Mrs. Vandergriff not even suspecting that government agents were investigating the case. The husband was skeptical at first, but a week or so later the youngster began to show his Jewish ancestry more and more plainly and the Roman nose he was developing became too much for Mrs. Vandergriff. She then told her husband the facts in the case and the baby went back to Erlanger.

In the meantime Mrs. Vandergriff became very much attached to the youngster and now she says she wants him back. Roman nose or no Roman nose.

Although only 18 years of age, Mrs. Vandergriff has been married two years.

RECOMMENDS ELECTION OF FIVE NEW BISHOPS

Quadrennial Address of College of Bishops of M. E. Church, South, Praises Conduct of President Wilson—Opposes Limitation of Episcopal Authority—Expresses Hope for Perfecting Plan of Unity of Methodism.

(Associated Press.)
Atlanta, Ga., April 2.—The episcopal address to the eighteenth general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, was read by Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, Va., at the opening session of the conference here today. The address was one of the lengthiest ever delivered to the general conference, reviewing the work of the church during the past four years and making recommendations for the future.

Commendation of the action of President Wilson before and after the declaration of war against Germany was expressed by the bishop, who declared "we should be less than patriotic and courageous Americans if we failed to give him our cordial support in every way."

"It gives us the greatest satisfaction to affirm that our president went to the utmost possible limit to keep us out of the fray," said the address. "If he is censurable for anything—and we do not think he is—it is for having been forbearing. Not until it became entirely necessary for us to fight or else submit to the most violent and brutal outrages at the hands of the German Kaiser and those who are banded together with him for the tyrannical domination of the world, did Mr. Wilson at last draw the sword. In our judgment, he was fully warranted in taking this extreme step and we should be less than patriotic and courageous Americans if we failed to give him our cordial support in every way."

Opposes Limitation.
The bishops strongly oppose the movement to restrict the areas of the bishops, so that while they are unlimited as to the presidency of annual conferences, throughout the whole connection, they must reside in certain districts for a limited time and be responsible for the development of church work in that district and report quadrennially to the general conference.

The election of five bishops was recommended in the address. Concerning the question of unification of American Methodism, the bishop's address declared a report would be presented by the commission appointed at the last general conference to confer with a like commission from the Methodist Episcopal church.

"It is still our earnest hope that a way may be found for some plan of cooperation among the Methodists of America which shall as far as possible, eliminate wastage of men and money in the territory in which both churches have established themselves," said the address. The bishop reported the membership of the church to be: traveling preachers, including superannuated, 7,679; local preachers, 5,159; lay members, 2,164,515, an increase of more than 170,000 members since the last general conference.

Sunday Schools Slacken.
The address pointed out that there had been some arrest during the past year in the growth of the Sunday schools, but the report for the quadrennium showed remarkable progress. The record gave 151,792 officers and teachers, a gain of 19,820, and 1,745,745 scholars, a gain of 248,027.

Concerning missions, the bishop said: "The amount contributed by our church for missions during the past quadrennium is far in advance of any like period in the past, totaling $5,078,061, a gain over the previous four years of $800,993. This, of course, includes what has been raised for woman's work."

The work of the Epworth league, the educational board, the fund for superannuates, the completion of the fund for a representative church to be erected at Washington and the work of the centenary commission, which proposes to raise $25,000,000 during the next five years, also were reviewed in the address.

AWARD VICTORIA CROSS FOR UNUSUAL XPLOITS

Lieut. Gerrard and Alan Arnett McLeod, of Royal Air Force May Wear V. C.'s.

(Associated Press.)
London, Wednesday, May 1.—The Victoria cross has been awarded to Lieut. Allan Gerrard and Alan Arnett McLeod, of the royal air force, for deeds which stand out even among the exploits in this branch of the service.

Gerrard, when on an offensive patrol with two other officers, attacked five enemy airships, shooting one down in flames. He then attacked an enemy airship, engaging single-handed some nineteen machines, which either were landing or starting off, and crashed one of them against the air-drome.

A large number of machines then attacked Gerrard, but, seeing one of his companions in difficulty, he went to his assistance and destroyed a third enemy machine.

Pursued by Five Planes.
Fresh enemy machines were rising from the air-drome and he attacked them, one after another, and only retreated when ordered to do so. Five machines pursued him, but he turned, although apparently wounded, and repeatedly attacked them until by overwhelming numbers he was driven down. McLeod, while flying at an altitude of 5,000 feet, was attacked by eight enemy machines, which dived at him from all directions, firing from their front guns. By skillful maneuvers he enabled his observer to fire bursts at each machine in turn, shooting three down. By this time both McLeod and his observer were wounded and their machine was in flames. McLeod climbed out onto the plane canopy and, by side-slipping sleepily, he kept the flames confined to one side, thus enabling the observer to keep on firing until the ground was reached.

Fell From Exhaustion.
McLeod dragged the observer from the flaming machine, and, although again wounded by a bomb, persevered until he had placed his companion in safety, when he fell from exhaustion, due to loss of blood.

LITTLE SECURITY FOR LIFE OR PROPERTY

Italian Minister Robbed in the Streets of Petrograd—Food Very Scarce.

(International News Service.)
London, May 2.—There is little security for either life or property in Petrograd these days, said a Stockholm dispatch today to the Morning Post, quoting the Greek minister to Russia, who has just arrived in the Swedish capital.

The Italian minister was robbed in the streets of Petrograd. It is difficult for the legations to get money from the banks, and food is very scarce.

The Greek diplomat said that the downfall of the bolshevik regime was only a matter of time.

It was reported five days ago that there had been another revolution in Petrograd and that the bolshevik government had been overturned.

TRANSPORTATION DISPUTE SETTLED

Question Arose Over Germany's Demand to Be Allowed to Ship Sand Across Holland.

(International News Service.)
Rotterdam, May 2.—The Nieuw Rotterdamse Courant announces that the transportation dispute between Germany and Holland has been settled. No details were given.

The dispute arose over Germany's demand to be allowed to ship sand and gravel across Holland to Belgium and also for certain commercial concessions.

FRANCO-AMERICAN ALLIANCE REAL FUSION

Comrades From Overseas Astonish French by Faculty for Assimilating "Tricks"

(Associated Press.)
Paris, Wednesday, May 1.—"The end will show which weighed most in the balance. Austrian cannon as reinforcements to the enemy, or the battalions which crossed the Atlantic to support the defenders of right," says a special dispatch to the Temps, describing a visit to the American troops at the front.

"The Franco-British liaison has been rightly described as intimate; the Franco-American is, if possible, still closer. It is real fusion. Every document of one of the French divisions touching the Americans is immediately translated and communicated to the allies. There are two uniforms, two languages, but one army."

The correspondent asked a French artillery colonel, who is well known in Washington, what he thought of his American allies. The colonel replied: "We value them highly, of course. There are lots of tricks which we learned—at what cost—which we can hand on, but I am astonished at their faculty for assimilation."

"Take my arm of the service. One of the greatest difficulties in artillery is the utilization of observation points. You can hardly imagine the work involved in properly using the information collected at these posts. Our American comrades have succeeded splendidly in this delicate work."

The correspondent visited an American chief of staff and asked if he had lost many during the month he had been in the line. The reply was: "Some, not many."

The correspondent said: "Yet your sector seems to be pretty hotly shelled?"

The American officer replied: "Yes, but not as hotly as that in front of us."

The correspondent asked if there had been any infantry attack. The officer replied: "No, but when one comes it won't find us snoring."

Mrs. S. E. Baird, 407 Long street, says: "I was in misery with my back. I could hardly sit up and was in pain all the time. My kidneys didn't act right and morning I felt all tired out. I used numerous medicines, but wasn't benefited until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Miller's Drug Store. They cured the attack." (Statement given January 18, 1911).	Joe Denton, carpenter, 16 West Twenty-sixth street, says: "For quite awhile the kidney secretions were highly colored and contained sediment. I tried different medicines, but they did me no good and I was discouraged and hardly knew what to do. Doan's Kidney Pills, however, cured me." (Statement given December 7, 1914).	Mrs. J. B. Johnson, 1025 East Fourteenth street, says: "My back ached and I felt bad all over. If I stooped I had sharp pains in my kidneys. Mornings when I got up I felt all tired out. I also had dizzy and nervous spells. Doan's Kidney Pills acted as a tonic to my entire system and made me feel stronger and better in every way."
WHITESIDE STREET	EAST EIGHTEENTH STREET	EAST SEVENTEENTH STREET
J. D. Drimmon, 925 Whiteside street, says: "I was troubled a whole lot by my kidneys. My back was always aching and it was very stiff and sore. I could hardly bend over or do much lifting. It hurt me at night and made me so nervous that I sometimes couldn't sleep. It took only a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills to cure me of the attack." (Statement given December 3, 1914).	Mrs. E. F. Keller, 1604 East Eighteenth street, says: "My kidneys were weak and irregular in action. I tired easily, and felt dull and languid. My feet and ankles became swollen and my fingers were puffed and stiff, especially mornings. I had dizzy headaches also. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Robinson Drug Co., and they regulated the action of my kidneys and helped me in every way."	J. W. Martin, 1507 East Seventeenth street, says: "I was so stiff I couldn't straighten my back. My back ached all the time, and it was impossible for me to rest nights. I couldn't do any work where I would have to bend over much or lift anything. My kidneys acted irregularly, and I was all in. When a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills I got some at Stone Bros. Drug Store, and two and a half boxes cured me of all signs of kidney trouble. My back has been well and strong ever since."
